Acupuncture, skin piercing and tattooing

Last Modified July 12, 2024

If you carry out acupuncture, piercings, electrolysis, tattooing or semi-permanent make up you need to apply to the council to be registered for body treatments. Registration is made under the Local Government Miscellaneous Provisions Act 1982, Part VIII.

Registration is required to ensure that operators meet the relevant cleanliness, hygiene and health and safety standards in order to lessen the risk of infection.

Both the premises where the treatments take place, as well as all persons providing the treatments, need to be registered.

Apply for a body treatment registration

The council must be satisfied that the premises are suitable.

Download and complete the [application form \[PDF 94KB\]](#) and return with the correct fee depending on whether you are applying for a personal registration, premises registration, or both.

After a successful inspection by a specialist public protection officer you will be issued with a certificate of registration.
