Disabled parking

Last Modified November 13, 2025

The Blue Badge scheme provides parking benefits for disabled people throughout the UK who travel either as drivers or as passengers. A Blue Badge entitles the holder to concessions for On-street parking, including free use of parking meters and pay and display bays, and exemption from limits on parking times (restrictions apply).

Parking with your Blue Badge

Blackpool Council car parks

Although the Blue Badge scheme is for on-street parking, Blackpool Council also recognise its use within some council run car parks and allow a 3 hour free concession.

Badge holders are advised to check individual car park tariff/notice boards for Blue Badge concession details. If no concession is available you are required to purchase a pay and display ticket to cover the length of your stay.

Display your badge and clock

Your Blue Badge must be clearly displayed in your vehicle, showing the expiry date (not the photograph) and your clock should be set to display the time of your arrival.

A valid pay and display ticket should be displayed if you are parking for longer than 3 hours.

Multi-purpose bays

There are some on-street bays that have more than one use depending on the time of day and sometimes day of the week. Road markings cannot be used and drivers should refer to the signage relating to the bay which will indicate what restrictions are in place for the bay and what times these restrictions are in force.

Resident parking areas

Please be advised our current policies, which are under review, do not allow the installation of individual disabled parking bays on residential streets.

It is important to note that there is no current requirement or legislation obligating councils to provide enforceable/non-enforceable disabled bays for individual residents.

Blue badge holders are not permitted to park in any residential permit zones or resident permit bays.

Blue badge holders may park on double yellow lines in some resident schemes, provided your vehicle does not cause an obstruction.

Blue badge holders are not permitted to park on double yellow lines within the Whitegate Drive scheme (WHGT).
