Building control fees

Last Modified April 23, 2026

Basis of application - Standard charges

Standard charges includes works of drainage in connection with the erection or extension of a building or buildings, even where those works are commenced in advance of the plans for the building(s) being deposited.

These standard charges have been set by the authority on the basis that the building work does not consist of, or include, innovative or high risk construction techniques (details available from the authority) and/or the duration of the building work from commencement to completion does not exceed 12 months.

The charges have also been set on the basis that the design and building work is undertaken by a person or company that is competent to carry out the design and building work referred to in the standard charges tables, which they are undertaking. If not, the work may incur supplementary charges.

Plan submission charges

The plan submission charges are listed in the following tables.

Building notice charge

The building notice charge is equal to the total plan and inspection charge plus 10%.

Reversion charge

These charges will be individually determined

Regularisation charge

These charges will be individually determined

5	Electrical work	The rewire of a dwelling including a new consumer unit	£618	£618	N/A

Notes

1. The reduction indicated applies to the charge for any work in categories 2-4 above which is carried out at the same time as chargeable works undertaken from table B. For example, if you intend to extend a dwelling with an extension between 10-40m² and at the same time you install replacement windows to the existing dwelling, the charge for the extension would be as per table B, but the charge for the replacement windows will be reduced by 25% from £186.95 to £140.21

2. Work in connection with an extension (see table B) for which a fee is payable does not also require a fee. For example any structural alterations to form an opening into a new extension are included in the fee payable for the extension.

3. Works relating to new windows assume the installation of all windows to be undertaken during the same period, if multiple inspections are required an individual charge will apply or works based on estimated costs.

If you are carrying out multiple extensions and/or alterations on more than one dwelling there may be scope for the authority to reduce the standard charge.

Should your proposed building work be subject to an individual charge, please contact building control

Individually determined charges (contact Building Control)

- Reversion of work from an approved inspector
- Work consisting of domestic alterations (other than extensions) where the estimated cost exceeds £30k
- Renovation of a thermal element affecting more than one dwelling or flat
- Building work consisting of the installation of replacement windows exceeding 20 windows or in a building containing flats where more than one dwelling is involved.

Supplementary charges

If you are selling a property that has been extended or altered, you need to provide evidence to prospective purchasers that any relevant building work has been inspected and approved by a building control body. That evidence is in the form of a building regulations completion/final certificate and/or an approval of initial notice.

Legal entitlement to a completion certificate is subject to conditions. In cases where the council is not told that the building work is completed is not issued. Despite the best efforts of the council's building control surveyors, many applicants who undertake building works fail to obtain a completion certificate and their application is archived. In cases such as there, charges are payable for reopening archived files and carrying out site visits to verify compliance.

We will, however, discount the first hour of an officers time in dealing with these instances. This hour would normally cover the length of time to review an archived file and determine what information we require prior to the issue of a completion certificate. Should we be required to spend additional time requesting information or making site visits, the charges indicated below will be payable.

Other charges are payable where we are asked to withdraw a building regulations application and refund fees, or asked to redirect fee invoices. Fees are payable in cleared funds before release of any authorised documents or other actions listed below.
