Food export certificate

Last Modified August 27, 2020

Export certificates, sometimes called health certificates are issued to food businesses who wish to export foods.

They are provided to help local exporters meet food safety requirements.

We check that your business is registered with us and that we are satisfied with the food hygiene standards at your premises before issuing any certificate.

We can issue certificates at a cost of £50 each. We can only issue for certificates manufactured in Blackpool.

Additional information for applicants

- We reserve the right to decline to issue a certificate if we are dissatisfied with hygiene standards and practices conducted on your premises
- If you require further information about importing or exporting food please contact the Food Standards Agency for assistance
