Purpose of the Blackpool self-build and custom housebuilding register?

The government wants to enable more people to build or commission their own homes. If you are seeking to acquire a serviced plot of land for self-build or custom housebuilding in Blackpool you can apply to be entered on this register. This register will provide the council with an indication of the demand for this type of housing in Blackpool.

The council can then take this information into account in its future plans, strategies and decision-taking. This will include using evidence in the register to inform the Local Plan Part 2: Site Allocations and Development Management Document, which will allocate sites for housing and other uses, as well as providing development management policies to guide appropriate development.

There is no requirement in legislation for local authorities to provide plots themselves, or to identify a specific plot for entrants on the register.

There is no guarantee that a plot that meets the needs of individual register entrants will be identified, or become available.

Further information on custom build can be found on the National Custom and Self-Build Association website portal or through the self-build portal.

These sites provide practical advice including on access to land and finance for custom and self-build for individuals.

What is self-build and custom housebuilding

Self-build usually means that an individual or group is directly involved in organising the design and construction of their new home(s).

Custom housebuilding usually means that an individual or group works with a specialist developer to help to deliver their new home(s).
